Agenda description to come

Jacques Marcoux
Jacques Marcoux is the Director of Research and Analytics for the Canadian Centre for Child Protection (C3P), where he oversees and directs organizational research needs related to the sexual victimization of children. His team’s mandate is to enhance the public understanding of the nature of online harm to children and to arm key stakeholders with evidence-based research. Additionally, Jacques is heavily involved in working with government stakeholders in Canada and abroad to help develop online safety policy recommendations through his role as an expert observer on the Global Online Safety Regulators Network (GOSRN), a coalition of government regulators from across the world. Jacques is formerly an award-winning investigative reporter with the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, specializing in data analysis. Previously he also worked in the field of public relations, strategic communications, and also in competitive intelligence analysis in the financial sector. Jacques Marcoux Director of research and analytics Canadian Centre for Child Protection
