About Us...

Featherstone Group is an organization committed to empowering Indigenous people through access to opportunities that support personal growth, leadership development, and long-term success. Our core mission is to create pathways that foster independence and meaningful advancement.

One of our signature initiatives, the Driving While Indigenous Motivational Event & Gala, is a dynamic social enterprise that began in Winnipeg, MB and has grown steadily each year. Due to its strong community response, growing demand, and measurable impact, the event is now expanding beyond Manitoba. Enoch, Alberta has been added as our first expansion location, marking an important step in our commitment to bring this powerful platform to a wider audience across Canada.

Driving While Indigenous is designed to uplift and empower Indigenous individuals to strive for both personal and collective achievement. It is a high-energy gathering that centers on inspiration, visibility, and connection, thus creating space for people to see themselves reflected in stories of success, resilience, and possibility.

We believe that platforms which honour and uplift Indigenous excellence are essential to generational healing. Each presenter is a recognized leader in their field, representing innovation, resilience, and the enduring strength of Indigenous communities. Their stories and achievements contribute to a growing national narrative of pride, leadership, and influence.

At the heart of everything we do is a commitment to creating safe, empowering spaces where people can uplift one another, foster growth, and drive meaningful change across our Nations.
